Entertained the Babies

On Friday afternoon, May 5th a cradle roll reunion was held at the home of Mrs. J. C. Lloyd, superintendent of the Cradle Roll department of the Methodist Sunday school. The guests were the babies and their mama's. A happy social hour was enjoyed, refreshments were served and Miss Bernice Lloyd sang and played some beautiful songs, much to the pleasure of all.

Framed certificates presented to each member were much appreciated.

The cradle roll now numbers fourteen members. Miss Mary Clark, Superintendent of the Primary department of the M. E. Sunday school assisted in entertaining the guests.

Country Woman's Club

The Country Woman's Club delightfully entertained the Pandita Circle and a few other friends at their pleasant club home on Monday afternoon. The room was very attractive with its fresh new curtains and a profusion of flowers most tastefully arranged.

The study of the club this year is China, its history, government and the political, religious and social conditions found in its vast territory. Serious work has been carried on through the year and in sympathy with this study Rev. J. F. Wilson consented to give the club an afternoon talk on China as he found it in his residence there as a missionary.

Mrs. J. Fred Smith, the president of the club, introduced Mr. Wilson who gave a most interesting address on the life of the Chinese, telling the origin of many of the peculiar customs of the country. He was listened to with great interest and enthusiasm, his audience greatly appreciating his happy descriptions of the country and its people, also the many pictures showing the curious and interesting buildings and mountain scenery some of which he said rivaled Switzerland in its grandeur.

After the address the ladies served light refreshments, a social hour happily closing a most pleasant afternoon in which more than sixty ladies participated.

90th Birthday Honored

Many Friends Gather in Honor of Mrs. Elizabeth Breakfield of Hall's Valley

A large family reunion was held last Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. B. Campbell in honor of Mrs. Elizabeth Breakfield of Hall's Valley, who is an aunt of Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Margaret Clark. That day was the 90th birthday of Mrs. Breakfield. Of the many brothers and sisters of Mrs. Campbell's mother, Mrs. Breakfield is the sole survivor. She enjoys very good health for one of that advanced age, and is now having a delightful visit at the pleasant home of her niece. Over fifty guests were present on the occasion of this celebration. As a memento, Mrs. J. D. Blaine presented the honored woman with a beautiful handpainted autograph book containing the autographs of all those present and also a picture of the group, taken by Mrs. G. A. Davis. Bounteous refreshments of sandwiches, coffee, nuts, candies and ice cream and cake were served.

The out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Guerraz of Edenvale; Mrs. Maud Strong and son Fred; Mrs. Frank Hubbard of Hall's Valley; Mrs. Emma Rucker, Gertrude Rucker, Ruth Rucker of Santa Clara; and Ethel Wallace of Oakland; Mr. and Mrs. George Rucker of Lompoc; Miss Anna Finley of Portland, Ore.; Mabel T. Ogier of Alviso; Margaret and Kenneth C. Cobb of Visalia; and Mrs. P. F. Gossby, Mr. and Mrs. Z. T. Rucker, William Rucker, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Rucker, Miss Ella Rucker, Mr. and Mrs. Henry French, Mrs. J. W. French, Miss Maude Hawley, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Weeks and two children, Clara and Clifford, and Mrs. A. DeFoe of San Jose.

Jury Renders

Verdict "Not Guilty"

A large number of people from Campbell went into San Jose last Tuesday and witnessed in behalf of Mrs. Mary Lock against W. J. Feebeck who has been disturbing the peace and quietude of North Harrison avenue for several months.

This is only one of a series of troubles that Mrs. Lock and Mr. Feebeck have been having and in which that lonely, innocent old woman has been getting the worst of it.

The case was heard before Justice F. B. Brown and was a charge of disturbing the peace on April 22d.

According to the testimony of Mrs. Lock on the afternoon of that day she was leading her cow along the street in front of Feebeck's house when the cow got loose and ran into the driveway about ten feet before she succeeded in regaining the rope and pulling the cow out. Mrs. Feebeck swore that the cow came in 40 or 45 feet, and that she measured the distance.

She did not mention, however, that a tight fence crosses the driveway in about 20 or 25 feet. When Mr. Feebeck came home in the evening he challenged Mrs. Lock to then bring the cow into his yard; but testified that he did not call her any names nor threaten or swear at her or in her presence unless she was around, eavesdropping. He admitted that he cursed and swore at the whole neighborhood and wished that they would not meddle into his affairs. Mrs. Smith and Miss Benah Crow testified that they heard a loud noise and swearing while they were in the house and came out and further heard Mr. Feebeck swearing at and abusing Mrs. Lock for the space of 10 or 15 minutes.

Mrs. Feebeck said that on the same day she and Walter Denman were sitting out in the yard together when Mrs. Lock threw sand and water over the fence on both of them. Mr. Denman said he got wet but did not see who threw the water. Mr. Feebeck's character was impeached and six well-known people of Campbell who know him went on the witness stand and testified that his character and reputation were bad. Mr. Feebeck produced four men who knew him in San Jose or elsewhere who testified that they had had business dealings with him and as far as they knew his reputation was good. The case went to the jury at 4:30 and after ten minutes a verdict of "not guilty" was rendered.

Recent Changes in School Laws

Radical changes in the school laws of California have been made by bills just signed at last possible moment by Governor Johnson. These bills, together with a few signed earlier, change the tenure of office of school trustees, revolutionize the method of apportioning school funds, relax the stringent laws governing vaccination, permit military training in the high schools and in several other ways shake up and rearrange school conditions. The following resume shows the chief effects of the changes in the school laws made by the late Legislature:

Senate Bill 982 changes the time of taking office for school trustees from July 1st to May 1st. This law is already in effect, so that all boards of elementary school trustees who were elected in April and all district (but not other) high school boards, are now in office and fully capable of transacting any business. By some oversight, the old law requiring new boards of trustees to organize and elect a clerk on the first Saturday in July was not changed; so it will be necessary, wherever the old clerk was not reelected as trustee, for the county superintendent to appoint one of the board as clerk until the formal organization in July.

Another new law (Assembly Bill 1086) empowers trustees to elect teachers for the next ensuing year on and after June 1st. In case the trustees fail to elect a new teacher (or fail to notify an old teacher) between June 1st and June 10th, the old teacher's contract automatically goes into effect for the next year. This law does not take effect until July 1st, so this year trustees may agree with teachers to continue in school and ratify their election on the first Saturday in July.

Institutes for trustees as well as for teachers are now in order. Assembly Bill No. 108 provides that county superintendents of schools may call a trustees' institute, and that the expense may be borne by the unapportioned county school fund. The idea is to unify school methods, and spread the inspiration of new ideas to all the districts of a county.

Another novelty in institutes is provided in Senate Bills Nos. 298-300, which permit county superintendents to abandon the present annual teachers' institute, provided they call, in lieu of it, local teachers' institutes from time to time in various parts of the county. These local institutes need not interrupt school for more than a day, and they have the additional advantage of getting close to the parents, especially in evening sessions.

The "Benedict Bills" (Assembly Bills Nos. 367 and 368) completely change the method of apportioning state school funds. They abolish the school census, and base the apportionment of funds by the number of teachers and on the average daily attendance, instead of on the number of census children. This will put a big premium on regular attendance and on the enforcement of the compulsory education law. This law, itself, was also changed by Assembly Bill No. 240, which raises the age of compulsory school attendance from 14 to 15 years.

Vaccination of school children is made optional with parents by Senate Bill No. 655. The old law made it obligatory, and required the State Board of Health to enforce it. The job proved too big. The new law requires the local boards of health henceforth to close the schools, during epidemics, to children who have not been vaccinated.

Military training is permitted to be given in high schools of forty or more pupils, of fourteen years of age, by Senate Bill No. 1253. A regular military organization is provided for, with student officers, uniforms, and target practice with real rifles on the National Guard ranges.

Small boys will grieve to hear of Assembly Bill No. 1080, which provides that school shall continue in session on all holidays except New Year's, Memorial Day, Fourth of July, Thanksgiving, and Christmas, except where the board of trustees declare a special holiday, which the bill empowers them to do.

Teachers will welcome Assembly Bill No. 1034, which compels financially embarrassed districts to pay 6 per cent interest on school warrants from the proper date of collection until they are actually paid.

Students remote from county high schools will be benefited by Assembly Bill No. 946, which permits county boards of education to pay for transporting children to such high schools.

Several school bills that had aroused widespread public interest failed to receive the approval of the Governor, and consequently do not become law. Among these are the teachers' pension bill, the bill providing for industrial education in the public schools, and the bills providing for grammar high schools and college high schools. Lack of funds is the reason announced for the "pocket veto" of all these bills.

The OLIVER

SUMMARY OF PAST WEEK'S COAST NEWS

Interesting Events Among Our Neighbors in the Far West Reviewed.

What Has Transpired on the Border of the Broad Pacific From Alaska to Mexico.

Napa.—Clubwomen of Napa county unveiled a Scotch marble tablet to the memory of Robert Louis Stevenson on Mount St. Helena last Sunday.

Hollister.—John Sanchez was found dead in the county jail here hanging by a rope from a door of the cell. He was arrested in Cienga by Sheriff Croxon.

San Francisco.—Six hundred and fifty-four persons, or 327 couples, were led up to Cupid's door in San Francisco county last month, according to the monthly statement of the Recorder's office.

Vigalia.—Disgruntled because the town went "dry," A. R. Carney of Exeter, who purchased the local ball park from M. J. Rouse, will put a padlock on the gate and no ball games will be played there after Sunday.

Marysville.—With his head beaten into a pulp, the body of Tom Rafferton, missing for ten days, has been found nine miles out of Auburn in the foothills. An ax handle, bespattered with blood, found near the body, is believed to have been the weapon used by the murderer.

Woodland.—While working in the garden, Mrs. G. H. Hecke, wife of the County Horticultural Commissioner, was bitten on the hand by a large tarantula. A physician was called promptly and home remedies applied. It is not thought that serious complications will arise.

Marysville.—Edwin J. Watson was given a sentence of ten years in Folsom by Judge McDaniels for the killing of John F. Bury in this city on February 10th. The jury returned a verdict of manslaughter and recommended extreme mercy, but the court disregarded the recommendation.

San Francisco.—Ornamental lamps, modeled after those of Vienna gorgeous with real floral decorations, kept green and fragrant perpetually in flower boxes suspended midway between top and bottom of the lamp standards, will be erected on Kearney street, from Market to Pacific.

Richmond.—While engaged in a sham battle with a number of youthful companions, Milton Butia, 12 years of age, was struck on the head with a heavy rock, fracturing his skull. An operation was pronounced successful, but the attending physicians entertain little hope of the boy's recovery.

Livermore.—Death came to Raleigh Badderley, the 18-year-old son of D. F. Badderley, as the result of an accident. The accident occurred when he was driving his motorcycle at a rate of over fifty miles an hour, when the front wheel of the machine struck a deep rut in the roadway. The youth was thrown head foremost over the handle bars.

Sacramento.—At least one, and perhaps two of the best men among the trade unionists in the State will be appointed by Governor Johnson between now and September 1st to positions on the Industrial Accident Board, created by the new Roseberry law on employers' liability and voluntary workman's compensation. The salaries of the three appointive members of this board are to be $3600 a year.

Reedley.—L. D. Ward, a prominent hotelman, committed suicide here. Ward came here recently from Sanger to conduct the dining department of the Grand hotel. He was succeeding nicely in his new business, but had shown signs of despondency for several days. He complained of feeling unwell and retired to his room, where he took sufficient strychnine to cause his death. The deed is attributed to ill health.

Stockton.—The segregation of the Oriental children from the whites in the schools of Stockton is causing the members of the City Board of Education considerable worry at present. Objection was made as most of the Board were against having the Japanese and Chinese attend the schools with the white children. They suggested that a portion of the school property should be reserved and a separate school be built for the Orientals.

STEAMSHIP COMPANY FINED FOR VIOLATING REGULATIONS

Fifteen Hundred Spaniards and Portuguese Shipped Like Cattle.

Honolulu.—The British steamer Otteric, chartered for $60,000 to bring 1500 Spaniards and Portuguese here from Oporto and Gibraltar, has been fined $10,000 by Collector of the Port for violations of the American shipping regulations. It is claimed that the ship was kept in a filthy state, that the hospital arrangements were insufficient and that the sexes were not segregated.

Out of 450 children under eight years old in quarantine, 400 having been liberated and some hundred more being ready to face the immigration officials. The immigrants have been brought here by the territorial immigration board, which has an agent in Portugal recruiting another shipload.

Since arrival the emigrants have been in quarantine, 400 having been liberated and some hundred more being ready to face the immigration officials. The immigrants have been brought here by the territorial immigration board, which has an agent in Portugal recruiting another shipload.

Interesting Light on Birth Rate.

New York.—Figures which throw light on what matrons of various nationalities are doing in the way of increasing the population of the city of New York has just been issued by the Health Department. In the Jewish district the birth rate is the highest, averaging 55 per 1000 of the population. In typical Italian sections the rate is 50.5. In the negro district the birth rate averages 26.6. But in the high-class native American private residence districts the rate is less than 7 per 1000. The number of children resulting from mixed marriages indicates, the experts say, that the second generation of immigrants are not as prolific in offspring as are the first generation.

Carpenters in Los Angeles Strike.

Los Angeles.—Demanding a minimum wage of $4 per day several hundred union carpenters in Los Angeles quit work when the demand was refused. Labor leaders were emphatic in the declaration that the move was not a strike. They said that the carpenters were not demanding a closed shop, but had simply agreed among themselves to quit until the raise was forthcoming. The men assert that carpenters in every city in southern California outside of Los Angeles receive at least that much.

National Guard on War Basis.

Sacramento.—California's National Guard is being reorganized on war basis. Two regiments are to be filled out to full fighting complement. Within one month two machine gun companies will be assembled, making up the thirteenth company to each regiment. The batteries will be centrally located, probably at San Francisco and Los Angeles, although no definite arrangements have been made.

Exposition Department Heads.

San Francisco.—Much activity is expected among the directors of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition at the regular monthly meeting, which will be held at the headquarters in the Merchants' Exchange building this week. It is probable at the meeting the heads of the various departments of the exposition will be assigned from among the directors.

A Cach of Dynamite.

Los Angeles.—About 80 sticks of dynamite were found on the Malibu ranch, not far from the ocean. An investigation will be made. The theory is advanced that it may have been brought down and landed from the boat on which it is alleged the dynamite was loaded which was used to destroy the Times.

Dynamite Shakes Up Town.

Concord.—Concord was shaken from end to end when a large quantity of dynamite, which had been stored on the site of a new building exploded. Windows for several blocks about the scene of the terrific explosion were broken, and several workmen had a narrow escape from death.

Atrocities Among Insurrectos.

San Diego.—According to a letter written at Tecate and brought by a messenger to this city, the Insurrectos in Lower California are committing atrocities that have few parallels. They are even accused of burning two Federal prisoners to death.

Engineer Scalded to Death.

Redding.—John Sellon, engineer on the Lamoine Lumber and Trading Company's logging railroad, was killed 15 miles west of Lamoine. The locomotive tipped over and Sellon was held fast underneath. Escaping steam scalded him to death.

Foreign Interests in Mexico Clamor for Protection

Washington.—Reports that have reached the White House and the State Department on the Mexican situation are far more discouraging than at any time since the dispatching of the American troops to the border.

President Taft and Secretary of State Knox are deeply concerned. Foreign interests are clamoring for protection, and the last advices show specific complaints by the German Minister to the Mexican Foreign office. The so-called armistice, according to reports received from El Paso, is developing into a farce, as the Federal negotiators failed to put in an appearance.

Coincident with these reports, which have cast a veil of gloom and apprehension over the State Department has come news to the War Department that the widely mentioned mobilization of 20,000 American troops in Texas has been only about half executed, so far as the actual number of men is concerned. There are only about 11,000 men in Texas. In order to increase the army to its strength given on paper it may be necessary for President Taft to order another whole division to the vicinity of the border.

It is frankly admitted in official circles that if 20,000 American troops ever were needed near the border to be prepared for emergency they are needed now. Wilson, the American ambassador at Mexico City, telegraphed that foreigners were fleeing from the Mexican capital, and that he and the German diplomatic representative had appealed to the Mexican Government for their protection. Nearby cities, such as Cuernavaca, 40 miles south of the capital, with a population of 180,000, are entirely cut off from communication.

Other reports are uniformly alarming. The revolutionists have taken possession of everything in the Torreon district, except the city of Torreon itself. Communication with Mazatlan and Acapulco is interrupted. There is the gravest concern over the threatened danger to Americans and foreigners in Lower California.

State Has No Voice in Setting Aside Forest Reserves

Washington.—By holding that the Federal Government, without consent of the State affected, may set aside vast areas of public lands as a forest reserve, and that such reserve is not subject to the State fencing laws, the Supreme Court of the United States settled two burning western issues.

Justice Lamar announced the opinion of the Court as to the constitutionality of the forest reserves. He said that the United States has the absolute right to do what it pleases with its own property; the constitution had given it such power. This control, the Justice said, was not a right incident to sovereignty as claimed by the opponents of the reservations, but was the exercise of a right which every citizen of the United States possessed. "All the public land is held by the United States in trust for the whole people, and it is not for the Court to say how the trust shall be administered; that is for Congress to say."

The constitutionality of the vast forest reservations of the West and the validity of the modern conservation policy were raised early in this case in the Circuit Court of the United States for the District of Colorado.

The United States Government had brought suit to enjoin Fred Light, a prominent Colorado cattleman, from causing or permitting his cattle to trespass upon the Holy Cross forest reserve in Colorado.

Neutrality Obligation Must Be Kept, Says President

Washington.—The suspension of the armistice and even the active resumption of hostilities by the insurgents will cause no change in the determination of the United States to refrain from intervention in Mexico.

The President is "as firm as a rock" in his purpose to live up to the obligation of neutrality, and even the killing of Americans, provided it were an incident of warfare, would not be regarded as sufficient ground for a single American soldier in crossing the international boundary.

This statement was made without reservation by the highest authority to the President and undoubtedly reflects the latter's policy. He insists on absolute technical adherence to the instructions already given to the American military commanders on the border to keep their soldiers north of the line.

One of President Taft's callers went so far as to quote him as saying that "blood would have to be so deep in Mexico that a man could wade through it," before the American army would cross the border.

Late happenings have brought out fresh rumors that friction exists between the war and State departments over the handling of affairs connected with the Mexican situation.

Governor Makes Allowance for Expenses for Two Years

Sacramento.—Governor Johnson has allowed $10,870,850 for running the State Government during the next two years. He lopped only $23,600 from the general appropriation bill passed by the Legislature. He struck out an item of $4800 for an engineer inspector for the State Board of Health because no such office had been created.

An item of $800 for equipment and supplies for this engineer met the same fate. An item of $10,000 for sanitary work in Oriental ports was killed because it was indefinite and there was a question of its legality.

An allowance of $3000 for a sanitary chemist for the State Board of Health was stricken out because no such office exists.

The Governor also struck out an item of $5000 for the parole work of the State Board of Prison Directors because the work is amply provided for otherwise.

Of the special appropriation bills for $4,758,948.60 the Governor signed those allowing a total of $3,648,154.66. When he finished the consideration of bills he said he would have signed more special appropriation bills if the revenue had been available.

School of Whales Halt Steamer Outside of S. F. Harbor

San Francisco.—While steaming along at 12 knots an hour 10 miles west of the Farallone islands shortly after daybreak, the British steamer Ashtabula, Captain Harding, 21 days from Shanghai, ran into a school of 25 whales, several of which were 75 to 90 feet in length.

Captain Harding reports that the whales were lying still in the water and were not sighted until within a mile of them.

The whales became confused and split up into five groups. The captain was obliged to change his course to prevent a collision with one of the groups. Several of the deck hands declared that the ship passed so close to one big bull whale that they could see him wink, and the swish of his gigantic tail actually careened the vessel. The unusual sight was witnessed by three women passengers, Mrs. J. A. Stringer, wife of a British naval officer, and Mrs. S. V. Earl and daughter, who took passage on the steamer at Shanghai.

TEN MILLION DOLLARS TO RELIEVE SAN FRANCISCO

Amount Expended in Three Years Was Donated by whole Civilized World.

San Francisco.—The sixth annual report of the National Red Cross, containing 133 printed pages devoted to the detailed history of the relief work in San Francisco, following the great fire of 1906, has been received in this city.

There is a complete report and accounting of the San Francisco Relief and Red Cross funds, showing that a total of nearly $10,000,000, received from the people of the whole civilized world, was expended in the three years immediately following.

It is shown by the report, which is published at the Government printing office at Washington, D. C., that the San Francisco public library has collected and classified about 300 separate books, pamphlets and magazine articles devoted exclusively to the San Francisco catastrophe. The reports of the San Francisco Relief itself contains many interesting facts that are not contained in other publications.

Ship Cuts Whale in Two.

San Francisco.—Headed for this port a few miles off the lightship early the other morning, the British steamship Seminole collided with a whale the sharp bow of the ship cutting clean through the hulk of the leviathan. Although the impact when the vessel struck the whale jarred the ship from stem to stern and threw the crew off their feet, no damage resulted. Immediately after the accident, Captain Clark ordered the ship's engines stopped, but even with reduced speed the ship struck several other whales before she passed through a school of sea mammals. Captain Clark reported that immediately after the collision his steamship ran into an enormous herd of seals.

New Anglo-Japanese Treaty.

Tokio.—Ratifications of the Anglo-Japanese commercial treaty have been exchanged. Great Britain and Japan negotiated a commercial treaty which will come into force on July 17th, replacing the one expiring on July 16th. The new pact removes the opposition of British merchants to the recently adopted Japanese tariff, which heavily increases the duty of British manufacturers, as Japan grants reductions varying from 12 to 30 per cent on a large number of British imports.

Drowned in Mountain Stream.

Jackson.—C. E. Forseen, a Boston man who was engaged in developing a mine at this place, was drowned in the Mokelumne river near West Point while fishing. He fell from a boulder and his body was swept down by the treacherous current. Efforts to save him failed, several friends running down stream in the hope of seeing his body, but it did not come to the surface.

Iron Works to Change Hands.

The property transferred consists of 30 acres of land in the Protrero district of San Francisco and 1600 feet of water frontage.

Birth Rate of Japanese.

Sacramento.—Statistics prepared by the State Board of Health on births in California since 1906 show that there were 585 more Japanese children born in 1910 than in 1906. The total in 1906 was 134, while in 1910 719 were born. The rate of births among the Japanese shows a great increase, while the white race birth rate is decreasing.

Frail Bridge to Safety.

New York.—An ironing board placed between the roofs of two buildings saved the lives of 50 persons who were trapped at an apartment house fire in uptown New York. The tenants were all asleep when the fire was discovered at the foot of the main stairs. Their escape was cut off.

Muelhausen, Germany.—Lieutenant Roser of the German army, who recently obtained an aviation pilot's license, fell from his aeroplane at a height of 150 feet and was so seriously injured that there was no hope of his recovery.

Facts About Motherhood

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at the time of child-birth, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when the strain is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, women will persist in going blindly to the trial. It isn't as though the experience came upon them unawares. They have ample time in which to prepare, but they, for the most part, trust to chance and pay the penalty.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy, and strong.

Any woman who would like special advice in regard to this matter is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. Her letter will be held in strict confidence.

FREIGHT RATES.

The Producer, the M. & M., and the Consumer.

(Western Railway News, Los Angeles, Cal., March 16, 1911.)

What is it that the consumer buys in tons or carloads? Is it sugar, canned goods, dried fruit, fresh fruit, flour, meat, butter, eggs, dress goods, clothing, hats or shoes.

As consumers we are not concerned in tons and carloads from the standpoint of rate reduction, unless it can be shown that the reduction will follow on down through the various wholesalers, jobbers, commission brokers and retail dealers to the consumer and lessen the cost, not of a ton or carload because he doesn't buy in such quantities, but of the single article he buys.

As we view the practical operations and effect of freight rates, the rate has little or nothing to do with the cost of an article to the consumer, and if rates are reduced, no matter to what extent, so many people—wholesalers, brokers and dealers—are engaged in merchandising the various articles and wares as they pass circuitously from the producer to the consumer, that no part of the benefit would ever reach the latter.

The coal dealers of Oklahoma waged a persistent war for a reduction in rates, under the pretense that they are doing it for the benefit of the consumer, just as is being done on various other commodities in various other states by various other dealers, and on March 2d, 1908, the Oklahoma Corporation Commission made the radical reduction from the McAlester fields demanded by those dealers. What was the result? Here it is as offered in evidence at a hearing by the Interstate Commerce Commission:

	Old Rate	New Rate	Old Rate	New Rate
Blackwell	$2.65	$1.50	$7.00	$7.00
Alva	3.25	1.75	8.50	8.50
Gage	3.70	1.90	7.00	7.50
Waynoka	3.25	1.90	No reduction
Woodward	3.60	1.90	No reduction
Medford	2.45	1.60	No reduction
Guthrie	1.75	1.20	Inc. 50c ton
Oklahoma City	2.15	1.00	Dec. $1 ton
Shawnee	2.10	0.82	No reduction
Cushing	2.10	1.10	No reduction
Ponca City	2.55	1.55	No reduction
Parry	2.35	1.35	Dec. 50c ton
Ardmore	2.10	1.05	No reduction
Purcell	2.75	1.20	Dec. 25c ton
Lindsay	2.10	1.25	No reduction
Pawnee	2.35	1.30	Inc. 50c ton
Stillwater	2.25	1.25	No reduction

It will be observed that in the face of this heavy reduction in rates and on an article usually sold at retail by the ton, the dealers in no instance gave the consumer the full benefit, but in eleven of the seventeen towns mentioned pocketed every penny of it themselves, gave the consumer only a part of the benefit in three of the towns and actually increased the selling price to the consumer in the three remaining towns. The money was taken from the railroads of Oklahoma benefited nobody but the coal dealer. Had it gone to the railroad it would, on the other hand, have been used to pay more wages, build new lines, improve the property and the service and develop the commercial and industrial resources of the community served by such railroad; it would have been spent in a thousand ways to the benefit of everybody.

It must be evident, too, that so far as the cost of living is concerned, freight rates are not responsible for the prevailing high prices of foodstuffs, clothing and other necessities of life. Made desperate by the continuously increasing cost of foodstuffs, with no increase in freight rates, the Dalmonega Club of the University of California, by the mere purchase of supplies at wholesale, reduced the living expenses of its student members 33 per cent.

Only recently the packers arbitrarily reduced the price of meats and provisions, and, without attempting to make false excuses, and wholly regardless of rates, said that further reduction would be made.

Oranges, grapes and dried fruit grown in California are hauled 4000 miles by rail to New York and there sold on the retail market approximately as cheaply as right here at home, though some of the home product is delivered by wagon from the field of production and on which there is, therefore, no railroad freight charge. If freight rates substantially entered into the retail cost of an article to the consumer, why should the New York retail price and the California retail price of a California product be approximately the same?

The cost of living is much lower in foreign countries, like Great Britain, France and Germany, and yet it costs on an average $1.00 to move a ton of freight forty-three miles in England, sixty-six miles in France and seventy-five miles in Germany, whereas in the United States, for the same amount, a ton of freight is moved on an average one hundred and thirty-two miles.

In other words, the average freight rates in England are more than three times as high as in the United States, the rates in France twice as high as in the United States and the rates in Germany nearly twice as high as in the United States, and yet the cost of living is much higher in the United States than in the countries mentioned; all of which explodes the theory that the high cost of living in the United States is due to freight rates or that a reduction in freight rates would in any way afford substantial relief from the prevailing high prices of foodstuffs, clothing and other necessities of life. Freight charges are so small and so insignificant in the price-making of an article to the consumer that when apportioned to the individual article the amount is in most instances too small to affect its price.

Cause for Peevishness.
"What's the matter with your wife? She seems very irascible lately." "Why, she was assisting at a rummage sale, and somebody sold her new hat for 35 cents."

For instance, the freight charge on a hat from the Atlantic seaboard to San Francisco is 1 1/2 cents, and you can send a suit of clothes from the Atlantic seaboard to the San Francisco consumer for about 19 cents, and a pair of shoes may be shipped the same distance for 5 cents. The freight charge on a pound of live beef from Sisson to San Francisco is only a trifle over 1/2 a cent; from Wabaska it is only about 1-3 of a cent; Gazette to Oakland stock-yards about 1/4 of a cent; on a two-pound can of corn from the East to San Francisco about 1 1/2 cents per can; on hams from Cedar Rapids, Ia., about 1 1/2 cents per pound; on a dozen pair socks from New York to San Francisco less than 4 cents per dozen; on a soft cotton shirt, less than 1 1/2 cents; on a union suit of cotton underwear, 4 cents.

Eggs were selling here recently for 65 cents a dozen. The dealer bought them at various points in California for about 35 cents a dozen, brought them to San Francisco and sold them at 65 cents a dozen, making a profit of 30 cents on each dozen and told his customer the high price was due to "high freight rates," although the freight charge on the dozen of eggs is only about one-tenth of a cent.

The result obtained by the students at Berkeley in the way of reducing living expenses lays bare to all consumers the real cause underlying the high cost of living and constitutes in itself a remedy potential in economic significance. We submit, therefore, that demands for rate reductions, on the theory either of benefiting the consumer or reducing the cost of living, are utterly subtle and deceptive, and we respectfully challenge truthful and logical analysis of this conclusion to the contrary. Rather is the problem to be solved by cutting out the middle-men and their profits, as was done by the students at Berkeley, and bringing the producer and consumer in closer relationship. Viewing the rate question from the dealer's standpoint is one thing; viewing it from that of the consumer is quite another. Reduction in the first instance deals with carloads and dollars, while in the second, as shown by the foregoing rates, it involves, in most instances, small packages and fractions of a cent, and as the smallest currency or money denomination issued is a cent, how could the dealer make the change and give the consumer his part—the fraction of a cent—even were he disposed to do it. In this regard we are not juggling figures, nor making light of a serious matter, but merely stating cold, hard facts in the way we, like all other consumers, have to consider them.

HERE'S A CONSUMPTION CURE

Milk Strippings From Healthy Cow Taken While Warm Said to Be an Efficacious Remedy.

Milk strippings when taken from a healthy cow that gives very rich milk and taken in quantities of a quart twice a day immediately after milking, before it cools any, will cure a larger per cent. of cases of consumption than any other method. It will also prevent it when taken in time. The reason why it is so successful is because it is absorbed or transfused into the circulation almost immediately without taxing the digestive organs, as all other foods do, and as the strippings or last quart of the milking from a cow that gives very rich milk is nearly all cream, the patients will take on fat so much faster than can be accomplished by any other method that they soon gain enough strength and vitality to overcome the germs causing consumption.

To get the best results one should begin with a glass of strippings and increase gradually; but if there is any disgust for it created any time, the quantity should be decreased at once to one-half and then increase gradually again. In two or three weeks the patient can usually take a quart in the morning and evening.

It is very important to take it immediately after milking so as not to allow it to cool below blood heat. In cold weather it should be milked into a dish resting in warm water to prevent it from cooling any.—B. J. Kendall, M. D.

Political Equality Club California's Banner Year as Convention Entertainer

Resolutions Adopted by the County Convention of Suffrage Associations

I. Resolved:—That to deprive one half of the citizen of the United States of the ballot is un-American, unprogressive, and unwise.

II. Resolved:—That taxation without representation, being cause for war in the times of our forefathers, ought in our own times to call forth a loud protest from every loyal citizen.

III. Resolved:—That we fight it out on this line if it takes all Summer.

IV. Whereas:—We realize our mother-love ought to be the mother-love for the whole world's children, and not merely for our own children, and that mother-love in the ultimate means the preservation of the race;—Therefore be it resolved that we demand votes for women as the most effective means of expressing that mother-love.

V. Whereas:—The allegation is often made as an argument against women using the ballot, that they would not make things any better;—Resolved that we declare that the allegation is irrelevant, and out of order. We demand the ballot for women on the broad, equitable basis of human rights firmly believing that having the right to cast that ballot will stimulate and develop knowledge to use that ballot intelligently. Therefore we deny the allegation, and defy the allegators.

VI. Resolved:—That inasmuch as our last census reports 600,000 women work in the industries, (outside the home,) and more than 3,000,000 children working in the mills, mines, and factories of the country, (our children who ought to be in school, or growing up 'mid sunshine and flowers), Therefore we demand in behalf of these women and children, votes for women—women who are the natural conservators of child and human life.

VII. Resolved:—That the formation of the Suffrage Amendment League in San Jose formed by the affiliation of the various organizations of the city of San Jose, has given an impetus to our cause, and will prove invaluable in our campaign.

VIII. Resolved:—That the establishing of suffrage headquarters in San Jose, indicates that the women of the county are getting ready for an active campaign.

IX. Resolved:—That the women of California are tired of being classed with children, criminals, insane and idiots.

X. Resolved:—That we heartily endorse the work of the Juvenile court, and of the detention home.

XI. Resolved:—That we heartily endorse and appreciate the action of the last legislature in passing so many liberal measures, especially the Initiative, Referendum and Recall, the Eight hour bill for women, and the Suffrage Amendment bill.

XII. Resolved:—That we thank the Press of this County for its liberal support.

IS TRAINED FOR POLITICAL LIFE

Woodrow Wilson Tells How He Fitted Himself.

WAS HIS FIRST PREFERENCE.

Studied Law Because It Was the Shortest Path to Public Career, but Quit It, He Says, as He Found He Didn't Know How Then to Be an Honest Lawyer and a Politician.

In an interesting interview with Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey in the May issue of the World's Work Mr. William Bayard Hale quotes the governor as follows:

"How did I happen to enter political life? Why, I suppose I was born a political animal. Always, from the first recollections of my youth up, I have aimed at political life. The reason I studied law was, I suppose, because in the south when I was a boy the law furnished the shortest path to public life. I gave it up because I found I couldn't be an honest lawyer and a politician; at least I didn't know how then to do it. So as the next best thing to living in public life I tried to satisfy my mind by studying it. I took a new start and went back to school, Johns Hopkins, where I tried to learn something about the facts—the facts, mind you, of government. From the start my interest has been in things as they are rather than in a theoretical analysis of them. In my thesis I studied the American congress as it is in fact, an organization of committees, somewhat as Bagelot had studied the English constitution as it was and as it actually worked rather than as its theory fictitiously made it. So, you see, I was always a practical politician."

"So that your occupancy of this comfortable swivel chair is really a fulfillment of your original youthful ambition?"

"Not of that so much as the fulfillment of my whole life, I suppose. When they came to me and said, 'You have been talking public questions and urging your young men to go out and take their part in politics; now it's time for you to take your own turn,' what could I say except: 'I'm glad of the chance. If the people want me to I will.'"

"Besides, to speak the truth, I was only asked to do in a bigger field what I had been doing at Princeton for ten years. I have been fighting privilege at Princeton, just as I am fighting it here now, only there I had to fight in the dark. My most trusted friends told me I mustn't drag the fight out into the light before the big jury, and so I didn't. Here I can fight the same fight before the eyes of all men. It's fun to be out in the air and the sunlight."

Corporations as Joy Riders.

Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey is not only a forceful and convincing public speaker, but he frequently uses comparisons and anecdotes of a decidedly original and often distinctly humorous nature. In a recent address the governor aptly illustrated the difference between "good" corporations and "bad" corporations, as follows:

"I have no objection to the ordinary automobile properly handled by a man of conscience who is also a gentleman. Many of the people I see handling automobiles handle them as if they had neither conscience nor manners. I have no objections to the size and beauty and power of the automobile. I am interested, however, in the size and conscience of the men who handle them, and what I object to is that some of these corporation men are taking joy rides in their corporations."

"You know what men do when they take a joy ride. They sometimes have the time of their lives and sometimes, fortunately, the last time of their lives. Now these wretched things are taking joy rides in which they don't kill the people that are riding in them, but they kill the people they run over."

Our Great National Change.

Every thinking man recognizes the fact that conditions of life in the United States have altered materially within the memory of men still young. But not every statesman has been able to express his appreciation of these great changes as clearly and concisely as did Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey in a recent address. Governor Wilson said:

"Now, I take leave to believe there is one singular question that underlies all the other questions that are discussed on the political platform at the present moment. That singular circumstance is that nothing is done in this country as it was done twenty years ago. The old party platforms of twenty years ago read now like documents taken out of a forgotten age. We are in the presence of a new organization of society. We are eagerly bent on fitting that new organization, as we did once fit the old organization, to the happiness and prosperity of the great body of citizens, for we are conscious that that order of society does not fit and provide the convenience or happiness or prosperity of the average man."
